How to hide code chunks

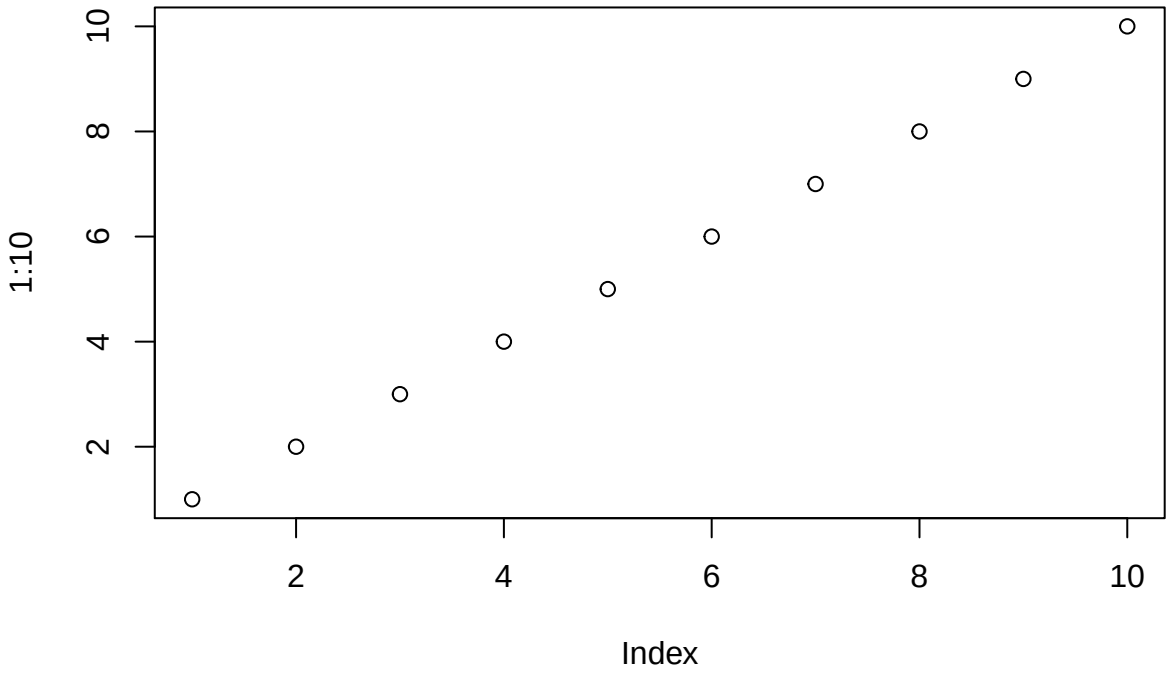
If you want to hide the code chunk but still want the output

You only need to add a "echo=FALSE" argument for the code cell.

The output and plots will be show up but the code itself won't.



If you want to show the code chunk but don't run it

You only need to include a "eval=FALSE" argument. In this way, only the code itself will show up, but it won't run so there will be no output/plots.

You can also embed plots, for example:
